General points in contracts relating to compliance with the Amflora Identity Preservation system

Under the contracts, the respective contract partners to BASF Plant Science acknowledge, as a general rule, that the contractual services involve the use and/or handling of genetically modified materials. Generally, the contracts provide, inter alia, for the obligations of the respective contract partner:

- to comply with all applicable laws, regulations, orders of authorities and the conditions of any applicable regulatory approval;
- to follow the stewardship guidelines (including IP system instructions) provided by BASF Plant Science (as amended from time to time);
- to allow an audit by representatives of BASF Plant Science and provide reporting services; and
- to provide reasonable assistance for enabling BASF Plant Science to fulfill its obligations under any applicable approval, including carrying out its monitoring obligations.
