Everything is AAC

- Every notification has an AAC section and everyone can work on every part of the notification
- New user profile: escalator can “lift” the notification one level up:
 - Regional > national > European level
= EU RASFF

But what is AAC?

- AAC is making requests
 - Adding a request in the conversation and flagging a participant for follow-up

The screenshot displays a user interface for a conversation. On the left, under the heading "Conversation Messages", a message from Belgium is shown: "26/11/2018 at 7:26AM The Netherlands is requested to verify its documentary check procedure as it appears that the wrong health certificate was used. Could they clarify if the product was checked against HC CKD-10938?". On the right, under the heading "Moderator", there is a list of participants. The "Moderator" section shows "BELGIUM". The "Participants" section shows "BELGIUM", "EUROPEAN COMMI...", and "NETHERLANDS". There is an "Add +" button above the participants list. For the "EUROPEAN COMMI..." participant, there are two moderation options: "For attention" and "Flag for follow-up". For the "NETHERLANDS" participant, there is a notification "10 day(s) left" with options to "Update countdown" and "Close".

But what is AAC?

- AAC is responding to requests
 - Adding a response in the conversation and getting closed out

Apologies, it turns out that two health certificates were switched during the check. The decision of the border inspector has been corrected and the consignment released.

Summarized:

- Notifications can be shared (= AAC) for attention (no request) or for follow-up (request)
- Commission can monitor and add requests (especially in the case of RASFF)
- When all requests are closed the conversation can be closed
- When all conversations are closed, the notification is considered closed.
